

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Communication control is made which satisfies the needs of both an owner or manager of a communication place and users of wireless communication terminals.

- 5 As a user of a cellular phone passes through an automatic ticket gate and enters a predetermined area, The ticket gate and cellular phone check whether the cellular phone has an electronic ticket for entering the area. After this check, the automatic ticket gate
- 10 requests the cellular phone to restrict the communication function. After the requested restriction is set by the cellular phone, entrance to the area is permitted and the gate is opened.